Exhibition CAPTAINS - Multitalented at Sea and on Land at Wahlberg Museum House main floor

The main exhibition of Wahlberg Museum House in the year 2023. The exhibition "Captains - Multitalented at Sea and on Land" tells the stories of eight Uusikaupunki captains, their lives, careers, and families.

Uusikaupunki has always been a maritime city, and its residents have made their living from seafaring. Even in the 19th century, the most common occupations in the city were related to maritime professions. While not diminishing the importance of the rest of the crew, the captains of the ships and their actions have left the most information for future generations. However, sea captains were not just captains, and their work was not solely about leading the crew. It is no wonder, then, that many captains, especially after retiring from their captaincy, engaged in various tasks related to merchant shipping.

In addition to their other roles, captains were usually husbands and fathers. When at sea, they had to spend long periods away from their families, creating a constant sense of longing and concern for both sides. The profession of being a captain posed challenges to the lives of the entire family but often provided a comfortable livelihood and good connections abroad.
